

Taking Part is an established organisation since 1994 and a registered charity since 2002 providing independent advocacy, information, guidance and training to people with a learning difficulty throughout Shropshire including Telford and Wrekin. We uphold the values of people having rights, choice, independence and to be included.

We support and encourage people with learning difficulties to have a voice and be heard using a range of advocacy approaches - group, self, peer and 1:1 advocacy. We have a wealth of knowledge and experience on a range of information for many services for all types of vulnerable people. We provide social events on a regular basis. We have specific expertise and experience in the facilitation of events including consultation in a range of settings. We can deliver and develop bespoke training for people with learning difficulties and staff.
