

Shropshire Languages Society is a non-profit charitable organisation which supports language learning from an academic, professional and social perspective. We are an independent and specialist provider for learning and careers in foreign languages.

We also aim to offer support for C.P.D. training for teachers and other professionals, and extracurricular opportunities to extend language learning and the National Curriculum beyond the classroom.

Shropshire Languages Society provides expert information, advice and guidance for learning and careers in languages for people of all ages.

We provide education and employment support for people whose first language is not English.

We raise awareness of languages and multiculturalism.

We provide learning resources such as books, videos, DVDs, CDs for the teaching and learning of languages.

We share good teaching and learning practice for foreign languages. This year we are the Primary Languages Hub for the new curriculum.
